History

John spent many years building a successful career as a businessman. He is taking this aggressive approach and applying it to his acting career. In 2003, John has been the central force behind the production of two short films entitled Just Asking For It and Cash in a Box. He is beginning to make trips out to Los Angeles to deepen roots in the film and television industry. In 2001 and 2002 John was named Samaritan of the year by the Samaritan Relief Fund for his work with under-privileged and homeless people of Atlanta.
